

Community Open House

Tuesday, March 20, 2018

6:30 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

Goldman School of Public Policy

Room 105

2607 Hearst Avenue, Berkeley

At the Upper Hearst Parking Structure on the northeast edge of campus, the Goldman School of Public Policy – the #1 public policy school in the nation – is moving forward with an innovative approach for a project that will create vital new academic and study spaces for its programs, maintain as much parking as possible, and incorporate much needed faculty, staff, postdoc and/or graduate student housing.

UC Berkeley and the Goldman School of Public Policy invite our neighbors to a community open house to share proposed project details and engage in meaningful dialogue with representatives from the campus, school, and development team. Light refreshments will be served.

We look forward to welcoming you.
